

Jonathan E. Burke is Vice President, Global Market Development for Westport and joined the company in 2006. Mr. Burke is responsible for Westport's sales, market development and government relations activities for the Westport HD business unit. Mr. Burke has over 15 years' experience in corporate and investor communications and business development for both private and public technology companies. Prior to Westport, he was Director of Business Development and Investor Relations at MGENIX Inc., a publicly-traded biotechnology company. Prior to that, he held investor relations and corporate communications roles in the biotechnology, medical device, and venture capital fields. Mr. Burke is a Director of the British Columbia Innovation Council, the California Natural Gas Vehicle Coalition and Board Chair of the Canadian Natural Gas Vehicle Alliance. He holds a Masters of Business Administration from Athabasca University and has completed Executive Education at Stanford University and the Wharton School at the University of Pennsylvania.